The country house in the picturesque village of Vargens is an appealing opportunity for either a holiday home or a potential bed and breakfast (B&B) business. With its four rooms, the property offers a cozy and intimate setting for guests to enjoy.

Vargens itself is described as a charming village, likely characterized by scenic landscapes and a peaceful atmosphere, making it an attractive destination for tourists and travelers seeking a relaxing getaway.

Because off the proximity to Mertola, just 20 minutes away, adds value to the property's location. Mertola is a historic and culturally significant town, known for its hilltop position overlooking the Guadiana River. The town's rich history as a fluvial commercial port during Classical Antiquity and the umayyad conquest of Hispania offers a unique cultural appeal to potential visitors.

For those considering the property for business purposes, the presence of shops, restaurants, and sports facilities in Mertola would likely attract guests who seek both relaxation and opportunities for exploration and recreation.

Overall, this country house in Vargens is an exciting opportunity for anyone interested in owning a home or starting a B&B/ camping business in a charming and historically significant region of Portugal.
